

Psalm 99

melodie in tenor

Zetting: Henk Lemckert

The image displays three vertical columns of musical notation, likely representing a tenor melody for Psalm 99. The notation is a form of musical shorthand, using circles, dots, and lines on a grid to represent musical notes and rests. The first column is the longest, followed by the second, and the third is the shortest. The notation is organized into measures by vertical lines, with horizontal lines indicating pitch levels. The first column starts with a treble clef-like symbol at the top. The second and third columns also show similar notation, with the third column being significantly shorter than the others. The notation is a form of musical shorthand, using circles, dots, and lines on a grid to represent musical notes and rests.
