The image displays two vertical musical staves for guitar, each containing a series of horizontal lines representing frets. The left staff includes a large 'M' symbol in the upper right quadrant. Both staves feature a sequence of notes and chords indicated by circles (open) and dots (fretted) on the lines. Vertical dashed lines separate the staves into measures. At the bottom of each staff, there are symbols resembling 'v' or 'x' connected by dashed lines, likely representing picking patterns or breath marks. The right staff has a thick horizontal line at its base.
