

NLB 792

Zetting: Henk Lemckert

The image displays two vertical musical staves for guitar, each consisting of six horizontal lines representing strings. The notation is a form of guitar tablature where notes are indicated by dots on the strings and stems with flags. A vertical dashed line in each staff indicates a specific fret position. The left staff begins with a circled letter 'B' in the top right corner. Both staves contain various musical symbols including dots, stems, flags, and curved lines, likely representing chords and melodic lines. The right staff includes a thick black horizontal line at the bottom, possibly indicating a capo or a specific fretting technique.